

Sheila Garness Klauer

Senior Research Associate,
Center for Human Factors Research
Virginia Tech Transportation Institute

Ms. Sheila Garness Klauer has been involved in transportation research for the past 10 years and is currently a Senior Research Associate at the Virginia Tech Transportation Institute. She was the project manager for the 100 Car Naturalistic Driving Study and is currently working on follow-up analyses using the 100 Car database. While at Virginia Tech, Ms. Klauer has also been involved in instrumented commercial vehicle studies investigating the effects of fatigue on both long-haul and short-haul truck drivers. She is currently finishing her Ph.D. degree in the Industrial and Systems Engineering Department at Virginia Tech and will graduate in December.